Selection Bias: Worksheet

Fill in the blank:

Selection bias is a phenomenon that occurs when research subjects in studies are chosen improperly or _________________.

____________ involves volunteering to create a biased sample.

____________ bias creates a sample that isn't representative of the _____________population of the study.

Essay question: In the space provided below, describe your ideal study to design in which you also get to recruit participants. Based on the target population of your study, explain how you would recruit a sample without creating any selection bias.