

Title of your article

Make sure:

The first letter in your title is capitalized

The title tells the reader the topic you are writing about

The title is not general (it should be unique to what you have to say)

Introduction: A short paragraph giving background information on the event/topic (2-3 sentences)

Your thesis statement (one sentence that tells the reader what your argument is)

Paragraph 1: One reason why your argument is correct. Use sources and facts to support your ideas, not just your opinions. (3-4 sentences)

Paragraph 2: Another reason why your argument is correct. Use sources and facts to support your ideas, not just your opinions. (3-4 sentences)

Paragraph 3: What would someone who disagrees with you say about this topic? Why are they incorrect? Use facts and sources to support you, not just opinions. (4-5 sentences).

Conclusion: A final point that will make your reader remember your argument (2 sentences)
